OTHER MATTERS.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Wideman celebrated their silver wedding on Monday.
Dr. Law occupied the pulpit of Rev. O. Y. Bonner, both Sabbath morning and evening. Rev. W. A. Gaines preached in the Baptist church yesterday. Mr. Gaines is justly indignant at the reports which have been circulated concerning him with reference to desiring to be dispenser for Abbeville county. Miss Jacile Carter attended the Philomathean celebration. She was the guest of Miss Kittle Pruit.

He leaves to-day for Florida, to enter upon the duties of his new position. Mr. Wideman is a most excellent young man and we feel confident that success awaits him. Mr. John Lyon will take charge of the school made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Wideman.

Cows Go Skating on a Mill Pond.

During the recent freeze two cows went out on the lee on Brook's mill pond, some eight niles west of Abbeville on Cainoun's creek. When they were a distance from the bank, the lee broke, and they went down and were drowned. The eattle, we believe, belonged to John Evans.

men of the temper of our own citizenship, and shrewd in business besides, they have made necessity and preferences agree, and toppied over the weak and reactionary government of which for many years they have been the real support. We confess to sympathy with them. They did with greater ease what we in South Carolina did in 1878.

The foregoing explanation will serve to show why it is that the commissioners who have come to ask for the annexation of the islands do not desire Statebood nor universal suffrage for Hawaii. They have had territorial independence and unrestricted suffrage already, and have found them a menace to their interests. They wish a safe government and a share in the sugar bounty.

It is a matter of grave doubt what should be done by the United States in this matter. Hawaii is rather too far away for convenience; although not farther than parts of Alaska, and can be reached more readily than Alaska, it would be infinitely more valuable than that territory. On the great transpacific route, it is an indispensable stopping place, and the islands are so rich that an influx of American energy would make them exceeding prosperous and remunerative. The real governing cass is already American in all but citizenship. The completion of the Nicaragua canal would largely enhance the value of the group to us. The interest of American commerce and navigation are to be considered.

At the fitting hour of sunset on Jan. 9th, his long, Christian life came to a calm and peaceful close. Of enemies he had none having lived a strictly upright life for nearly 8i years. The members in their remarks were a little jocular, and talked in a free and easy style while the Club seemed to be somewhat off its usual dignity. In pointing a moral or adorning a tale, the essayist and different inembers fount it necessary to repeat Tillman's word of
